

INTRODUCING REAL MONEY EXPERIENCE-

a FREE training day to introduce educators to tools and curricula available for teaching the new Economics and
Personal Finance course

FREE

FREE

FREE lunch and parking will be provided

Thursday, September 30, 2010
8am-3pm 7:45am registration

Langley Federal Credit Union in the Member Education Center- Suite 110
11742 Jefferson Avenue
Newport News, VA 23606

To register, go to www.langleyfcu.org/teacherseminar or contact Kitty Simon at 757.825.7112 or via email at ksimon@langleyfcu.org

Deadline for registration is September 15, 2010
Space is limited to 80 attendees, so don't delay!

Several local credit unions have partnered to bring you:

- A deeper look into the new Economics and Personal Finance SOL requirements
- FREE educational resources available to assist with meeting the specific requirements of this new Standard of Learning
- Games and activities designed to engage students in the principles of Personal Finance

Pending local approval, this seven hour training qualifies the participant for seven (7) hours of recertification points.

 This workshop is available for Hampton Roads teachers only or on a priority basis.

Speakers include:

Judith Sams
Program Specialist, Business and Information Technology, Virginia Department of Education
Introduction and Welcome

Will deHoo
President & CEO of FoolProof
FoolProof is a turnkey financial education program that credit unions provide to schools, parents, grandparents and college-aged students. FoolProof comes in three fine-tuned versions: FoolProof for High Schools, FoolProof for Parents & Grandparents and FoolProof Solo, for college-aged young people. FoolProof uses Web-driven, interactive modules, video and audio clips to engage young people. Incorporated within the FoolProof modules is a complete website for students, called CUHQ.
Join Will as he explains how you can use FoolProof in your classroom to actively engage your students in a fun and dynamic way.

GinaMarie Mancuso-Sidhu
Business Teacher, Tabb High School
GinaMarie will share, from a teacher's perspective, the finance curriculum she helped create for York County schools. She will also talk about the free resources available for teaching the new Economics and Personal Finance curriculum.

Other topic experts will be on hand to help you better understand financial products and the ways to make finance fun. Learn more about:

- Budgeting & Financial Planning
- Investments
- Retirement
- Insurance
- Credit & Loans

